Part 2 – Questions 6 – 10 „Busy bees“

'Busy Bees' is a website offering jobs to so-called taskers.

Decide which of the busy bee jobs described in the texts (A-G) are the most suitable for the taskers below (6-10).

Write the correct letters next to the numbers. Use each letter only once.

A Grandma's garden

I would like to have my garden ready for spring. There are the old leaves that have to go, flowers should be planted. The tasker who would like to do that should be strong as there is an old tree that has to be cut down.

B Shopping

I'm living on a farm, 10 kilometres away from the next town. I don't drive anymore because I have problems with my eyes. I need someone in the mornings to help me in the house and do my weekly shopping for me. You could use my car.

C Catsitter

I have a holiday flat in Malta where I am staying the whole winter. I can't take my five cats with me, so I need someone to look after them in the winter on a daily basis. The person must be very reliable and must like animals.

D Painting the living room

Our living room needs redecorating. We don't have the time to do it ourselves. The tasker should be skilled and qualified in terms of handicraft. We won't be staying in our house the first weekend next month. That's the time when the living room can be painted.

E Moving helper

We're moving from London to Whitstable the second weekend next month and need a tasker who is able to carry heavy furniture as we have heavy wardrobes and lots of boxes with books.

F Sports mate

For medical reasons I need to do sports every day. I decided to go running and I am looking for someone fit who can motivate and accompany me at 6 am before I have to go to work.

G Looking for company

I am on my own, my wife died last year. I am very lonely in my large house so I am looking for a tasker who likes to play boardgames in the evenings. As my eyes have become very weak I am looking for someone to read my books to me.

6		Becky: I am a waitress in a café for three afternoons per week from 2:00 pm to 6:00 pm. The pay is very low and I need more money to pay the rent. I have a driving licence but no car. I'd like to help people.
7		Michael: I am not one of those gamers. I like to be outside. I'm good at working with plants and don't mind hard work. I'm saving my money to go to university. As my school finishes at 3pm I can work in the afternoons.
8		Sharon: My hobby is photography and I need a lot of expensive equipment for that. I helped my parents redecorate their house and enjoyed it. I can only work at the weekends. But the second weekend next month I am going to an exhibition and can't work.
9		Linda: I am in year 11 and I am saving money for my driving licence. I am into sports and like getting up early in the morning. I need to buy a car to get to my swimming competitions.
10		David: I am in year 10 and I like working with people and animals but I am allergic to cats. I often play games with my friends. In my free time I read quite a lot and need money to buy new books.

Part 3– Questions 11 – 17 Why cat clips rule the Internet

Read the text and tick (✓) each correct statement (11-17).

There is only one correct answer per statement.

With more than two million videos on YouTube, cats are one of the most popular things on the Internet.

Almost half of all original YouTube videos are of people's pets, and around 26 billion views are just for cats. Dogs don't even come close! Some cats even are famous, and earn millions of pounds after their owners posted their pictures online. So how did cats become so popular? We've been taking a closer look...

Since the 1990's people have been sharing pictures of their cats via email. In 2005 one of YouTube's co-founders Steve Chen posted a video of his cat called Pyjamas playing with a rope. That made him the first person to upload a cat video to YouTube. One year later the first cat video went viral: "Puppy vs Cat" has now more than 16 million views on YouTube.

A scientific study has found out that looking at videos of cats can improve your mood. They asked 7,000 people how they felt before and after watching videos of cats. The results found that people felt happier after watching videos of cats.

The Internet also created a number of cat celebrities such as GrumpyCat, Lil' Bub and Maru the cat. These cute cats became Internet superstars after their owners posted their pictures online. The pictures were shared by a lot of people. Both GrumpyCat and Lil' Bub have a genetic disease, which makes them smaller and look more like a kitten than a normal cat. They are, however, not ill but healthy and happy like other cats.

These famous cats have now appeared on TV shows, adverts and film festivals and they even have their own merchandise like t-shirts, caps and toys.

Lil' Bub has her own charity, and has raised around £130,000 for pets with special needs.

Part 4– Questions 18 – 25 Schoolchildren voted to remain in the EU

Read the following online article about school children's opinion on the EU.

Match the first parts of the sentences (18-25) with the sentence endings (A-I).

In the summer of 2016, British people were asked in a referendum (asking a whole nation about their opinion is called a referendum) if they wanted Britain to remain in the EU. Before the referendum, First News, an online news channel, wanted to know what school children thought about the UK leaving the European Union.

In the Houses of Parliament in London, 100 British pupils took part in a discussion for and against remaining in the European Union. First News wanted to give a voice to some of the children who were too young to vote but will have to live with the result.

A teacher in Bedfordshire, said: "At my school, we wanted the children to understand all the facts. We explained what it was all about and told them about some of the arguments for and against. Pupils learnt that the word Brexit is a combination of the words Britain and exit."

After the discussion, there was a vote. Most of the pupils voted to stay in the EU. Up to the referendum, First News continued to let children vote online to get their views.

After Britain decided to leave the European Union, First News wanted to know some of the reactions:

"Maybe there are some boxes of votes that they haven't counted yet?" 11-year-old David suggested hopefully.

A mother on Facebook said her nine-year-old son George was worried his European friends "would be forced to leave the country and that there might be a war".

Nine-year-old Russell is "not too worried by it as long as we can still play Euro football".
